JoAnn was an excellent golfer. What wasn't mentioned in the obit is that she when Rockwell built their golf course, JoAnn was instrumental, the catalyst, for starting the Linn Grove Women's Golf Association. Most women knew very little about golf. JoAnn held meetings teaching the rules; etiquette; basics of golfing. She explained the different golf clubs and the distance they would be used for. She organized tournaments and luncheons. I, for one, learned a lot from her. Many fond memories of her. ThankYou JoAnn.
